

This 10-hour Food Safety Management Course was developed by the Educational Foundation of the National Restaurant Association. The text, ServSafe Essentials, is part of the Foundation's food safety program. After completing the classroom work, participants take a national certification exam developed by the Educational Foundation.

The ServSafe Course is for:

- ~ Managers of food service operations for hotels, restaurants, schools, clubs and institutions.
- ~ Food and Beverage Managers
- ~ Catering Managers
- ~ Chefs
- ~ Dietary Managers

Cleanliness and Safe Food Matter:

- ~ The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimate that foodborne diseases cause 76 million illnesses and 5,000 deaths annually.
- ~ The public is concerned about cleanliness and safe food.
- ~ Food establishments have been closed for critical health code violations, such as pest infestation, unsanitary work environment, improper storage and handling of food, poor hygiene practices and foodborne disease outbreak.

Receipt of certification is dependent upon a passing grade for exam. Books can be picked up 1 week before class at the Warren County Extension Office. It is strongly recommended that textbook is reviewed one week before class.
